Location Information: Enabling location services allows you to selectively add location information to your Tweets.

If you decide to opt-in to use these location services, Twitter will be able to:

- Attach your specific location (latitude and longitude) to your Tweet when you are using Twitter for Android, Twitter for iOS or other mobile applications
 - Attach a place (such as a city or neighborhood) to your Tweet if you are using twitter.com on the web
 - If you have attached a specific location to a Tweet, those specific coordinates will still be attached to and available with the Tweet.
